

THE BELIEF OF THE SECOND ADVENTISTS

THE MONEY MARKET.

To the Editor of The Tribune.

In your paper of to-day, in noticing the death of the Rev. Jonas Merriam of Concord, N. H., you say that "He has for a number of years taught a people called 'The World's Crisis,' and proving therein that the Second Advent with the destruction of the world was at hand." Now, "The World's Crisis" has not been printed by the Rev. Jonas Merriam of Concord, N. H., but by Elder Miller, the leader of the Second Adventists. I have nothing to say except that I am not a member of that denomination; but this I do know, that "the Paling" of that day and hour is wholly ignored, not only by the Elder, but by the Church which he leads. The Second Adventists are the power of which is the editor. There are, it is true, among the Second Adventists a few hot-headed fanatics who persist in setting the time for the destruction of the world and the Second Advent of Christ, but they are a small minority. In such a list of the most influential men of Massachusetts, do not tolerate such a doctrine, but, on the contrary, do all they can in a Christian spirit to oppose it, as they see that it is ruinous to their cause.
